Bulgar moved northward and occupied Sicily, Naples and Rome as another force re-conquered DALMATIA. But the Gothic resistance took over 20 years to reverse.

But just as TITEUDIS had refused to help the Vandals against BELISARIUS in 533, he hesitated for a long time before intervening in the widening conflict between the Goths & Byzantium.

Belisarius attacked the Vandals in the summer of 533, the Ostrogoths allowed him to make a crucial logistical stopover in Sicily. Thereafter, the Goths occupied the district of LILYBAEUM, AMALFRIDA's dowry, and held the territory despite imperial complaints until Belisarius conquered Sicily.

Belerius surprised the unexpected Vandals by landing in Africa (though his forces numbered only 15,000 men). The Vandal force on the spot was routed before Carthage, which joyfully hailed the victor as a deliverer. He returned in triumph to Constantinople, to make ready for a fresh task.

Dionysius Exiguus, a Roman abbot, introduced into Italy the system of the Christian era, according to which dates are reckoned forward and backward from the birth of Christ.

He used the year 754 A.U.C. = 1 AD. He fixed the beginning of the Christian era as March 25 of 1 BC.

Throughout the Middle Ages, in church & in secular records, various dates for the beginning of the year - Mar. 25, Mar 1, Easter & Christmas, fallopople - were in use

Dionysius was instructed to fix the beginning of the new era by working backwards

He lived in Rome
